OFFERS IDEAS ON WINTER SPORTS

AUTHORITY ON OUTDOOR LIFE MAKES NUMBER USEFUL SUGGESTIONS

ARE READ AT PETOSKEY (BY STACE)

Grayling, with its ideal facilities for winter sports, bids fair to out-rival all other places, provided the right kind of concerted effort is made and the local authorities, business men and citizens generally co-operate in carrying out some of the suggestions that are made by Arthur W. Stace, well-known sports writer of Grand Rapids.

Lake Margrethe, which is so conveniently located near to town, has every charm that might be desired. Surrounded as it is by many hills and valleys that offer the best of conditions for tobogganing and skiing, its surface offers to those who like skating, ice boating, hockey, curling, horse racing, fishing through the ice, all that is ideal.

At this time, when the summer tourists are enjoying the comfort of our ideal winter sports, the best of conditions for tobogganing and skiing, its surface offers to those who like skating, ice boating, hockey, curling, horse racing, fishing through the ice, all that is ideal.

A sports conference was held last week in Petoskey at which Grayling was ally represented by Marius Hanson, president of our local hockey team. There were delegates present from all over northern Michigan. At this meeting a paper outlining the requirements for a successful winter resort region, that had been prepared by Mr. Stace, was read. This was printed in the July 12th edition of the Crawford Evening News, and we are glad to reprint it for our readers. It reads as follows:

Ideas On Winter Sports by Stace
Arthur W. Stace of Grand Rapids, well known Michigan authority on outdoor sports, has been invited to give a paper on winter sports to the Michigan Sports Association at Petoskey. He did send a resume of what he thinks is possible along these lines. His communication as read by Secretary Doelle follows:

Herewith are presented suggestions looking to the establishment of organized winter sports in Michigan, and particularly in Northern Michigan. These suggestions were prepared at the request of the Winter Sports Committee appointed at the Michigan Recreational conference held in Grand Rapids in April.

Two Types of Winter Sports
Winter sports as tourist attractions must be looked upon in two aspects. First—Winter sports that cold weather recreation seekers may themselves indulge in. In this list come:

Skiing, including ski-joring and ski-motoring, skating, social, fancy and freestyle, coasting, with toboggans, sleds or sleds, sleigh riding, and dog sledding, curling, snow-shoeing, fishing through the ice, ice-boating, sail and motor, winter picnics and winter outings, winter hikes on skis, snow-shoes, or in some cases, foot, winter explorations in woods and fields, winter auto-touring, indoor parties, with dancing, old-fashioned frolics, and

MUST OBTAIN PERMIT TO START FIRES

Act 341, Public Acts of 1925 make any person, burning in any woods, grass lands, brush or slash, guilty of a misdemeanor and punishable by a fine of not less than $25, or more than $100, or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than 90 days, providing they have not secured a permit to burn or that the area to be burned is not surrounded by an adequate fire guard to protect the property of others. Permits to burn will be issued by any authorized fire warden or supervisor wherever and whenever they are needed, providing conditions warrant the burning can be safely done.

Michigan's outdoor fire department is well organized for our property protection. There is now one or more townsmen, watching daily, over our property and the fire hazard generally. It is impossible for a smoke of any considerable size to arise without being detected by these look-out stations. When the towermen sight smoke he is able, by the aid of instruments, to determine very accurately where the fire is. He is in direct telephone connection with other towermen and also with special fire wardens. The fire warden has his car and equipment ready at all times and very little time is lost after a smoke is sighted.

With the proper co-operation from the public, forest fire can be controlled; without this co-operation the forest fire is this country's greatest menace and the department's force is entirely inadequate.

Call on one of these towermen and you will appreciate the service and protection he is giving this country. You will be entirely welcome and the work will be courteously explained.

We are members of conservation district No. 11, comprising Crawford, Kalkaska, Missaukee and Roscommon counties. Let's co-operate against our country's worst enemy, Forest Fire, and have this district a place that will be appreciated by all who see it.

Mert W. McClure, Assistant District Warden.

HURRICANE SWEEPS CAMP GRAYLING

Sunday morning at one thirty A. M. a sudden squall swept over Camp Grayling in a diagonal path. Lightning flashed, tents fell, clothing was blown all over the grounds, and the sky seemed to confirm Morton's forecasting salt air. "When it rains, it pours."

A few moments after the gust of wind had struck the tents, the camp was in a turmoil. Tents were on the ground. Guardsmen were buried beneath the canvas and were calling for help. The boys who were dressed and out of the tents, quickly assisted the fellows in the tents to grab blankets and run for the mess hall.

Soup and coffee were prepared in the mess-hall, and every possible precaution was taken by the officers to save any of the boys from catching cold.

Commands were given by the Captains to avoid any disorder which might occur if the storm grew worse. Fortunately the hurricane "blew over," and the boys slept for the remainder of the night in the mess hall.

Captain Broch left for Grayling in the wee hours of the morning, awoke the town haberdasher, and purchased his entire stock of socks and undies. Any of the boys whose underclothing was wet were issued socks and underclothing.

The remainder of the morning and afternoon indicates that Captain Broch was working under cover.

Sunday morning the Guardsmen arose early and in a few hours every tent on the grounds was up, and the reconstruction of the entire camp almost completed.

HERMANN-BATES WEDDING TUESDAY

CEREMONY IS LOVELY EVENT

Lovely white-hydrangeas and ferns in tall baskets, and pink carnations formed the lovely setting for the wedding of Miss Mildred Alice Bates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin A. Bates and Mr. Alfred Carl Hermann, son of Mrs. Anna Hermann, at the Memorial church Tuesday evening at eight o'clock.

The ceremony was an affair of interest to a large number of friends of both bride and bridegroom, because of the popularity of the two young people.

The marriage service was performed by Rev. John Wilfred Greenwood before some two hundred friends and relatives of the contracting parties.

Miss Bates was charming in her bridal robe of white satin, fashioned with long wide line and circular skirts, and trimmed with pearls and rhinestones. A full tulle veil was held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of pink bride's roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Miss Ruth Gregory of East Jordan, groomed in green georgette, with a long green tulle hat. The bridesmaids were Miss Gordon Sorenson of Grand Rapids, and Miss Margaret Curtis of Grand Rapids, and they were lovely in white beaded gowns of crepe-de-chine and pink hats. Miss Elizabeth Jerome, as junior bridesmaid was most attractive in a pink, georgette dress, and carried a bouquet of pink roses and baby's breath.

Little Helen Elaine McLeod, as ribbon stretcher and Mary Jane Joseph as the little flower girl, were adorable in white lace dresses, the flower basket being filled with pink and white sweet peas and lilies-of-the-valley.

Mr. Gordon Sorenson of Cadillac acted as best man and the ushers were Farnum Matson and Stanley Matson, with Ben Jerome Jr. as junior usher. Young Billie Joseph, in a white satin suit, shared honors with little Miss Helen Elaine as ribbon stretchers, and Master Jack Sparrow, in a white suit and carrying a white pillow bore the wedding rings to the altar.

The groom and best man passed down the side aisle while the remainder of the wedding party approached the altar down the center aisle, to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Mrs. Catherine Bond. The bride, leaning on the arm of her father, met the groom at the altar where the impressive ceremony was performed.

Following the ceremony a reception was given by Mr. and Mrs. Bates at the P. Shoup home, which had been beautifully decorated with a tower of green and pink and white streamers, the bride's colors. After the wedding party had received the guests, Mrs. Carl Mickelson sang in her usual pleasing manner, "When," by Mrs. Mickelson and Mrs. C. Clippert sang, "Venetian Boat Song," by Blumenthal, which was very much enjoyed.

At the table seating the bridal party thirty places were marked and the table bore a large silver basket filled with pink roses and baby's breath and tied with a huge tulle bow. At each end of the table were candles in white and lighted taper. The remainder of the guests were served on small tables, the waitresses being Jane Keyport, Pauline Schoonover, Marie Schmidt, Ada Kidston, Janice Bailey, Helen Schumann, Mary Esther Schumann, Ella Hanson, Margrethe Hanson, Virginia Hanson, Elizabeth Annen, Ella Louise Skelton, Elizabeth Matson and Margaret Warren.

Junior Hanson was born in Grayling and graduated from our high school, afterward attending the Michigan State Normal college. For four years she taught in the public schools here. She is a girl of sterling worth and a favorite with all.

Mr. Hermann has lived in Grayling for eleven years. During this time he has been known as a young man of good principles and likable qualities, being popular with the younger set here.

Guests from out of town in attendance at the wedding were: Miss Rena Bates, A. E. Ludwig, Mrs. Jennie Damerou, Miss Marguerite Damerou.

LIGHTNING STRIKES FREDERIC DEPOT

During the electric storm Saturday night, the Michigan Central depot at Frederic was struck by lightning at about 11:00 P. M., and was soon a mass of flames. Although it was discovered almost as soon as it was struck, the fire quickly spread, and it was impossible to remove any of the contents from the building, before it was completely destroyed.

A bucket brigade was formed by the citizens of Frederic, including the women folks. About one hundred men carried the pails while the women pumped the water. With this help they were able to hold the fire under control for a short time, but finally the fire seemed to take new life and quickly spread throughout the rest of the building. There were a number of barrels of oil standing around the depot, one of which exploded, making the fire more difficult to combat.

There was no one in the depot at the time of the fire, as the foreman had left the building. The fire was in the north half of the depot, and it was only a matter of a few seconds before it was a mass of flames.

The heavy rain which was falling, was in the favor of the fire, as it was in the time that other buildings in the immediate vicinity might also catch fire.

This is one of Frederic's old landmarks, built by the Michigan Central Railroad Company many years ago, and in its day did a flourishing business, as there were several large boarding camps around that place, and all of the freight was handled through the depot at Frederic. It is not decided as yet, just what will be done with the site, but we feel sure that there will be some kind of a structure placed there to take care of the passengers and freight service in the future.

SHAW REUNION
A very pleasant affair was held last Saturday at Shaw's Park, Camp Grayling, on the bank of the Ausable river, where one hundred six relatives of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Shaw gathered to spend the day.

The day and the scenery about were ideal for such an event, and everyone turned in to help make it an enjoyable affair.

At one o'clock the guests were called to a delicious dinner which was served at long tables arranged in the shady spots on the lawn.

The afternoon was spent by the members of the party giving short speeches, telling stories and singing, while others made themselves busy by looking around the famous resort land. At six o'clock supper was served after which the guests left for their homes expressing their thanks and appreciation for the wonderful outing that they had had.

Shaw's Park is one of the most beautiful and picturesque spots on the river, and is always greatly admired by all who visit the place, so no doubt Mr. and Mrs. Shaw's guests were highly delighted over it.

TWO INJURED IN AUTO COLLISION

Junior Hanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eabern-Hanson, driving his father's Nash coupe and Glenn Carlson of Whitehall, Michigan, were injured last Friday shortly after noon when a construction truck, owned by the Michigan Public Service Company, side-swiped the Hanson car on the Lake Margrethe road. Carlson was riding in the front fender of the truck and received internal injuries. However, he was able to leave the hospital Wednesday and left for his home in Whitehall.

Junior Hanson received some bad cuts and bruises about his head and face. He also was taken to the hospital where X-rays revealed a broken collar bone, although no bones were found broken. He is able to be around with the aid of a cane, which is glad news to his many friends.

Both cars were badly damaged and the occupants were lucky to escape without more serious injury.

COAST ARTILLERY LEAVING SAT.

The presence of the 202d Coast Artillery of Chicago at Camp Grayling for the past two weeks has been a real treat to the people of Grayling. They have brought to us a new side of military training that was spectacular and interesting.

On almost any evening powerful searchlights sent their rays of light into the sky in search of balloons that were sent up for targets. When located, special anti-aircraft machine guns fired upon the balloons until they were hit, and very few indeed escaped the remarkable marksmanship of the gunners.

During the day aeroplanes flying about a mile high, trailed aerial targets that also were shot down. And the aviators were not slow in showing some of the things that can be done with such machines. Altogether, the presence of the C. A., the airplanes, these spectacular evenings and the concerts by their splendid band have given the people of Grayling and the hundreds who have come here a lot of real pleasure.

And what too is highly gratifying is the fine friendships that have developed between these visitors, who but a few days ago were total strangers, and the people of Grayling. Every where we hear good things said for Col. Kraft and his officers and men. We have always been proud of the hospitality of our people and their friendly spirit toward visitors, and their ability to make and hold friendships.

This virtue has been strongly manifested at this time and we only hope that our visitors have found the kind of people they like to meet and that we may have been helpful to them while here. They are leaving Friday afternoon to return to Chicago, glad we trust, that they spent their training period in Grayling, Mich.

During the past week, W. J. Clark, publisher of the 202d Coast Artillery has been busy compiling a camp newspaper, that was printed by the Avalanche and put into circulation today. During this time we have come into close communication with Mr. Clark and have found him to be a very gentlemanly, a splendid writer and a hard worker. We have greatly enjoyed this association with him and hope that should the 202d ever come to Grayling again and decide to publish another camp newspaper, that Mr. Clark will be its editor in chief.

A number of things appeared in the Camp Grayling News, that we are sure will be of special interest to the people of this community, so with permission of its editor, Mr. Clark, we are taking the liberty of reprinting some of the articles, as follows:

COL. KRAFT PRAISES GUARDSMEN'S ACHIEVEMENTS
Colonel Charles J. Kraft expressed the feeling of the entire 202d C. A. when he enthusiastically acclaimed Camp Grayling as being the most beautiful site on which the Regiment has ever encamped.

He is a healthy and everything here is ideal for our annual training. The boys have responded with a great improvement in their work, and this year's camp has been unusually successful. The attitude of our boys has been splendid, and personally thank each Guardsman for the fine manner in which he has conducted himself during our two weeks of training here.

The people of Grayling greeted us as strangers, but from daily contact with them I am certain we are leaving as friends. It happens invariably in military organizations that the boys conduct themselves as individuals and forget they are part of a regiment. They sometimes commit acts which are wrong and immediately bring disgrace upon their entire organization. This has certainly not been the manner in which our boys have acted, for they have won the respect of Grayling people and all the personnel of our Regiment.

Many of the Guardsmen may think that discipline was too exact, but they must remember that discipline is the ultimate test of army training and that a Regiment is greatly judged by this important factor. The real makings of any army is obedience of its soldiers, and your personal attitude is a reflection of our morale. You have learned a valuable lesson if you have mastered this virtue, and it is best to always keep this thought foremost in mind: "That he who would give commands must first be able to take them."

If war should come, obedience in a nation's army is a trait that assures victory, but disregarding war entirely, obedience is a most important factor in helping a man be successful.

It has been unfortunate that such a storm as we had Sunday morning should occur during our two weeks of encampment here, but we are very thankful, however, that no serious accidents resulted and did not interfere with our scheduled plans. The manner in which the boys regarded themselves and the strategy displayed by our Officers was an excellent example of military organization.

Our annual summer camp is almost over and I sincerely hope that next year's encampment will be as successful as Camp Grayling. I trust that you have enjoyed this year's trip, and that you have had a pleasant vacation as well as enjoying the two weeks of military training which was so efficiently executed.

MAYOR OF GRAYLING PRAISES BOYS

"We are mighty happy to have had the pleasure of your presence in Grayling. You have come here as strangers, have already won our deepest respect, and a great many friendships have grown out of your visit."

It has indeed been a pleasure to have your Regiment at Camp Grayling and we compliment you on the fine personnel and appearance of your Boys and Officers.

We have seen much of them in our modest little city and you may well feel proud of the fine way they have conducted themselves here. We have not heard of anything except compliments about the Boys and know of nothing that may have happened to mar the fine feeling that has been so nicely established.

If we, the people of Grayling, have contributed in any way toward the pleasures and comforts you may have had here, we are very much pleased and thank you for the many pleasures you have given us. The concerts furnished by your splendid Military Band at Mercy Hospital and in the Court Yard Park were especially enjoyed by everyone in the city.

We trust that you may be as glad to come here again as we are to invite you, and assure all of you that a warm welcome will await your presence any time the 202d C. A. may wish to return.

H. Peterson, Mayor

ANOTHER BOOST FOR THE BOYS

The first encampment of the 202d C. A. at the Hanson Reservation will soon be over and I should like to express my admiration of this particular unit of National Defense. The boys of the 202d C. A. have been excellent, courteous and business like, in dealings with our merchants, and many sincere friendships have been formed during their two weeks of training at Camp Grayling.

I cannot speak too highly of the Official Personnel of this Regiment, who have won the respect and good will of all our citizens.

We are glad you came to Grayling, we enjoyed your presence and hope that you too have benefited by your visit here. When the camp site for 1928 is being made, we hope you will return to Grayling and may rest assured of receiving a very hearty welcome.

Melvin A. Bates, Postmaster

RESCUES GUARDSMAN FROM DROWNING

Pvt. Henderson Modest Hero
The most spectacular deed ever displayed by any single member of the 202d Coast Artillery was performed by Pvt. L. C. Henderson of Battery "B" last Saturday afternoon in Lake Margrethe.

Pvt. Earle G. Eriststed of Battery "H" attempted to swim across the lake and was stricken with cramps about a hundred yards from shore. Calling for help and managing to keep on the surface of the water for a few moments, Pvt. Henderson heard his scream, showed a plank ahead of himself and swam to the rescue. Pvt. Henderson grabbed Eriststed just as he was going down the third time and by use of the plank kept him above water till a boat arrived.

Several Guardsmen swam to the rescue of Pvt. Eriststed but Henderson was the first to reach him and is the real hero of the deed. Pvt. Henderson is a very modest young man.

Several hundred Guardsmen witnessed this spectacular act and have recommended that he be awarded for this heroic rescue.

BOARD OF TRADE HONORS COL'S STAFF

Col. Kraft and his Staff were the Guests of the Grayling Board of Trade, Wednesday evening, at a banquet given in their honor at Shoppen.

Rev. John W. Greenwood, of Michigan Memorial Church, Grayling, was toastmaster and officially welcomed the officers of the 202d C. A.

Col. Shaw, Property and Dispersing Officer of Springfield, responded to the toast.

25 EXAMINED AT CHEST CLINIC

Twenty-five persons were examined by Dr. J. W. Toan, staff examiner of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, at the Christmas seal chest clinic held last Monday at the high school for the benefit of the people of Crawford county. Of this number 8 positive and a suspicious cases of tuberculosis were found. No persons were recommended for sanatorium care.

With Dr. Toan was Miss Bertha Brown, R. N., who registered those who applied, and gave the preliminary examination, and they were ably assisted by Miss Doris Whitchell, R. N. Miss Kristine Salling and Mrs. Elvanore Schumann, to whom they extend their sincere thanks.

The clinic was a decided success, much of the credit of which is due Miss Whitchell, who took care of much of the preliminary work connected with it. Miss Breen congratulated the people of this county for their progressiveness in having a county nurse.

Those in charge were very delighted to find the progress that was made by some of the patients who had formerly active cases of tuberculosis. Five old active cases were quiescent, or activity arrested. This, of course, is the result of co-operation with the doctors' and nurse's instructions, of intelligent following of strict routine, and one might not in a good word for the climate, even though that is a human responsibility.

The warm welcome extended and spoke of the 202d C. A. as being the best Regiment of National Guardsmen in Coast Artillery training and equipment in America.

Grayling and its residents thanked Grayling for the splendid reception given them, and Col. Kraft informed the city officials that the 202d C. A. would be very happy to return to Camp Grayling at some future encampment.

Michigan Happenings

With a view of manufacturing iceless refrigerators under the registered trademark "Zerol" the Carleton Cooler Association has been formed at Carleton. Capital stock was set at $200,000, of which $20,000 has been subscribed. It is stated, R. J. McCormick, a banker, is the special trustee, with S. D. Barker and A. H. Hooper, Detroit, and S. O. Reeves and George Egle, of Carleton, directors. Operations are to start in 30 days in a temporary building. It is planned to erect a building the site for which is to be donated.

A joke perpetrated by fellow-workers in a Detroit plant, caused Lorenzo Yorio, 35 years old, of Centerline village, near Mt. Clemens, to send a bullet through his brain in the presence of his bride at their home. Mrs. Yorio said her husband believed tales told him by fellow-workers, that enemies sought his life.

A. J. Pierce, 60 years old, and E. B. Pierce, 71, brothers, were killed when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Pennsylvania train at a crossing near Harbor Springs. Both had been residents of Harbor Springs for several years.

Mrs. Barbara Nelevac, 63 years old of Lowell, was killed when she was struck by a Pez Marquette passenger train near Elmdale, five miles west of Charlevoix. The engine of the train said the woman was walking along the tracks and that the brakes were applied too late to save her.

With more than 1,500 persons looking on, but not 1,500 closer to the scene than 400 yards, about 250,000 tons of iron ore were moved at Palmer in a single blast of dynamite at the Volunteer Open Pit mine operated by Pickands Mather & Co. Approximately $1,000 pounds of dynamite were used in the blast, the largest "shot" ever made in mining operations anywhere in the world. Enough ore was loosened by the two blasts to keep the steam shovels busy at the mine most of the summer.

A heavy blow at romance has been struck by the House when it passed the 60-cent bill which provides a fine of $100 or imprisonment for 30 days as a punishment for those who wear the insignia of orders, societies, clubs, or other organizations which they do not belong to. It is expected that this bill, if signed by the Governor, virtually will ruin the practice so much favored by the college sophomore of wearing his fraternity pin over the heart of the lady of his choice.

Fifty St. Clair county real estate dealers, bankers, and businessmen assembled recently at Bad Axe with representatives of Sanilac and Huron counties and formed the Thumb District development association to advertise the advantages of the district. The Thumb "broader" organization, the Eastern Michigan Resort Association, will advertise this section of Michigan with an automobile caravan, which will tour Michigan, Ohio and Indiana late this month.

Although she lived as a recluse, occupying rooms alone in the rear of her little drug store and economizing to the extent of denying herself of many comforts, Mrs. Nellie McConnell, of Ludington, who died recently, has been discovered to possess an estate of $300,000. There was found $3,000 in currency in her store. Mrs. McConnell, whose husband died 12 years ago, left no will.

The fifteenth dislocation of Ben Glassman's jaw, more than an hour to set it back in place and use of an anesthetic was necessary. Glassman, who is 40 years old, and a farmer residing near Comstock Park, is believed to have dislocated his jaw while yawning. He said he thought it had been out of place at least 50 times.

Registration of all firearms in the state will be required if Governor Green signs the Pulver-Wojcik bill which has been passed by the House. The measure, offered by Senator Seth Q. Pulver, of Owosso, would require registration of firearms with a board under the supervision of the department of public safety. It would also prevent the pawning of any pistol.

Lightning during a storm at Traverse City struck the home of Mrs. Lou Empey and knocked her from bed, setting fire to the bed clothes. Her son, Billy, lying beside her, escaped injury and a dog beneath the bed and in the bolt's direct path was not harmed. Mrs. Empey extinguished the blaze.

Hitchhiking its way towards the nation's cornbelt, the European corn borer is threatening to destroy crops to the value of billions of dollars and cause a famine.

The fly bait restriction order on the Pere Marquette and Au Sable rivers has been lifted by the conservation commission. The commission also accepted the offer of the United Power & Light Co. of sites along the Pere Marquette river which the company had purchased for prospective power sites. The gift carries the stipulation that these lands are to be used for camp, park or game preserve purposes by the state.

Now that Walter Johnson is able to pitch again the National Capital will refuse any longer to worry about the situation in China.

Trace Wedding Cake to Old Roman Custom

The wedding cake is believed to be the survival of an old Roman practice when the bride and groom not only ate together as a sign of their kinship and mutual love, but feasted the guests as well. At this time it was good etiquette to break the cake over the bride's head as a sign of plenty. In the marriage ceremonies of the early Anglo-Saxons huge baskets of dry crackers were employed. After the feast each guest took a cracker home with him and the remainder was distributed to the poor. "Later it became the custom for the guests themselves to bring to the wedding small, richly spiced buns, which were piled in one huge mound on the table. It was a common occurrence for the bride and groom to attempt to kiss each other over this mound, and if they succeeded they were assured lifelong prosperity." It is said the wedding cake of today is due to the genius of a French cook, who, while traveling in England, observed the convenience of stacking hundreds of these small cakes in a mound and conceived the idea of cementing the mound into a single huge cake with icing. At the wedding feast it was the duty of the newly married couple to wait on his bride at the table, whence came the name bridegroom—signifying one who serves the bride.

Mother Anta-Employ Babies as Needles

"A baby that you sew with a baby that's needle and thread—child labor with a vengeance, eh?" The naturalist closed a book by a brother-naturalist, Glenwood Clark. "Glenwood Clark tells all about it here," he said. "The baby I refer to is an ant, not a human baby. In the elegant art of baby-form this ant creates a silk and with that silk its mother sews the leaves together to make the ant nest, using the baby itself as a sewing machine." "The ant nest is built on a twig, rather high up in a tree. The leaves that form it are held together by one group of ants, while another group—mother ants armed with their babies—does the sewing." "They hold their babies in their claws. They press the tiny heads against a place where two leaf edges join. The heads press on the leaves, their claws pull them together, and they move the leaf and needle and thread, and they make a thread." "In this manner, thanks to the needle-and-thread babies, the ant's nest is soon ready."

The Journey of Life

When we consider the way the people and the conveniences of travel, and try to meet their necessities in and out of the home, we find that the journey of life is a long and arduous one. We are constantly surrounded by people who are traveling, and we are constantly surrounded by people who are traveling. We are constantly surrounded by people who are traveling, and we are constantly surrounded by people who are traveling. We are constantly surrounded by people who are traveling, and we are constantly surrounded by people who are traveling.

WHY WIDOWS ARE THE SPECIAL PREY OF CONFIDENCE MEN

By W. R. MOREHOUSE
Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association

WOMEN are often easy victims for the high-pressure promoter. Widows are especially sought out by the confidence men. Even before their deceased husbands, protectors and counselors are buried the widows of high finance are waiting outside their doors. They know the defenseless widows will be easy prey. Many a woman today is penniless as a result of making poor investments. "Getting rich quick" for the widow without investment experience is in reality getting poor quick. Once a sharp promoter gets the confidence of a rich widow he has a "Bonanza" as he calls it. Eventually he gets the estate and the widow gets the experience. Widows with estates should be on guard every minute. They are marked persons, with promotion crooks hot on their trail. The best thing that every woman investor can do is to consult her banker before investing.

Properly cut and set, crystals sparkle in realistic imitation of diamonds. The same is true in the field of finance. There is that which is fraudulent parading as the genuine. Don't buy investments simply because they sparkle. In the realm of wild-cat financing, fictitious credentials, testimonials, and references are employed to give setting and genuine appearance. Some are such rank-imitations that they are easily recognized, but others defy detection except on the closest investigation by an expert. The only safe procedure is to investigate under competent advice.

Literally millions of dollars are lost to American savers annually as the outcome of buying into something—a fraudulent farm promotion, a business or a job that is nothing more or less than a set-up to catch suckers. Often the savings of a lifetime are lost by buying unimproved farm lands with the understanding that the seller, or a service company, promoted by him, will plant the farm to trees or vines, care for them, market the crop and turn the profits, which it is promised, will be big, over to the owner. But this dream never comes true. The so-called guaranteed big profits are never realized. If people would only stop long enough to consider all angles of an offer like that before investing they would see the folly of plunging blindly into such a proposition. Let them ask themselves only this one question: "If it is true that such big profits are to be made, why

LOCATING THE FINANCIAL LEAKS THAT TAKE THE PROFITS OUT OF FARMING

By DAN H. OTJE

INDUSTRIAL lines suffer because of inefficient firms, whose officers cling to old methods and place goods on the market, even at a loss, to compete with the more efficient institutions. Agriculture, too, has this problem to face.

We find farmers who fight new methods. They retard the prosperity of other farmers by throwing on the market poor quality products, frequently produced at a loss. The nature of the banker's business places him in a position to help this type of farmer as well as the more progressive farmer. At the same time the banker can assure himself of good loans based on the farm as a going concern.

A study of the investments, sources of income and expenses of the successful farmers in his community will give the banker a measuring stick by which to gauge the hazard entailed in furnishing loans to other farmers. This study is readily accomplished through the use of summaries of farm records. In the absence of good records, survey blanks which can be obtained from the agricultural colleges, may be used for collecting the information. A banker in a dairy district would use data similar to Farmer A's summary in the following table as a measuring stick to judge the condition of Farmer B.

|                      | Farmer A | Farmer B |
|----------------------|----------|----------|
| Farm receipts        | $1,465  | $2,214  |
| Farm expenses        | 2,122    | 1,075    |
| Net income           | $343    | $1,139  |
| Income at 6 per cent | 1,029    | 882      |

|   | Farmer A | Farmer B |
|---|----------|----------|
| Net income after taxes                                  | $274    | $114    |
| Acres   | 127      | 130      |
| Total investment  | $21,400 | $10,700 |
| Operating capital (land, improvements, livestock, etc.) | 8,652    | 4,473    |
| Number of cows  | 18       | 11       |
| Investment in cows                                      | $2,302  | $1,203  |

The total investment of Farmer A is moderate with a large percentage per cent of operating or working capital. Farmer B is low in operating capital. The number of cows is also low, which is reflected in the farm receipts, these being $2,214 less than those of Farmer A. The expenses of Farmer B, although about one-half of those of Farmer A, are nevertheless high in the ratio of expense to receipts. The only way to guard a loan to Farmer B is to consider assets and not income. Before any loan should be considered at all the banker and the farmer should go over the situation, uncover the leaks and outline a definite program of improvement.

|                           | Farmer A | Farmer B |
|---------------------------|----------|----------|
| Income from crops         | $1,465  | $2,214  |
| Income from livestock     | 2,122    | 1,075    |
| Income from other sources | 1,658    | 280      |
| Miscellaneous income      | 327      | 181      |

A good diversity of income serves to protect the farmer against years of over-production of any one farm product. Farmer A has a good diversity of income.

Barring temporary emergencies, farm loans handled on the basis of income, indicating a going concern, would hasten tremendously the day of a permanent and prosperous agriculture.

Interesting Events In Grayling 25 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 25 YEARS AGO.

Thursday, July 17, 1912

Mrs. Dr. Insley and Stanley went to Cheboygan Saturday for a short visit with friends, returning Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Mrs. Atkins of Bay City were here last week attending the funeral of her grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Rensell.

N. P. Salling and A. Groullet, who were here on a fishing excursion for a week or more, left for their homes Monday afternoon.

During the storm Monday, there was a dash of hail southeast of the village so sharp that the west-end of P. Aebi's house looks as though it had been used for a buckshot target. His corn, potatoes and cabbage were badly cut.

On July 16th, Chas. Oakes, aged 17 years, of analysis of the deceased was a brother of Hugh Oakes of this place and Mrs. F. R. Deckrow of Maple Forest. The funeral services were held here Tuesday.

Messrs. John Hanna, Otis Hanna and E. L. Parker of Beaver Creek were in town Tuesday.

Mrs. C. P. Stewart will leave this afternoon for a month of visiting at the old home in Norwalk, Ohio.

Mrs. L. T. Wright is enjoying a visit from two of her nieces, the Misses Leona and Nellie Mulligan of Breckenridge, Mich.

The census figures show that Michigan has 18,200 newspapers and magazines, publications with a total circulation of 114,299,334 copies. If these papers could be consolidated into one, what a picnic the circulation editor would have.

The degree team of the Grayling Lodge K. O. T. M. went to Deward last Saturday and instituted a lodge there with 40 members. All are highly pleased with their reception and treatment in our sister city, and hope the fraternal feeling initiated there may grow, and that they may return the social pleasure whenever the new members may choose to visit them.

Last Thursday at the Riverside Hotel, Mr. Scott was the guest of the Honorable A. powerful horse kicked him in the face, rendering him unconscious, and then cuffed him eight or ten times in dancing around in the stall, but fortunately no blow was square enough to break any bones, though the flesh is badly bruised and lacerated. It is almost a miracle that he escaped death.

The family of John Rouse, who have been residents of Grayling for several years, moved to Bay City last week. On Friday evening the W. R. C. and L. O. T. M. of which Mrs. R. was a member, gave her a reception at the K. O. T. M. hall, and presented her with emblematic badges of both orders. We regret to lose them, but our loss will be a gain to Mr. R. as he will be able to spend more time with his family. The Avalanche will follow them to their new home.

The K. O. T. M. of this place feel more proud than ever of their order, and justly so, for their prompt manner of doing business and payment of losses, as proven in the case of Mrs. C. Peterson, who received her money the fourth day after proof of death was taken here. It is not only an order of unusual social benefit, but

Barbara Fritchie Home Reopened

The historic home of Barbara Fritchie in Frederick, Md., has been rebuilt on the original site, and Miss Anna K. Abbott, a great-granddaughter of the heroine, now resides there and exhibits to visitors some of the furniture and clothing owned by Barbara. Miss Abbott is seen in the photograph waving the flag from a window as old Barbara, when Gen. Stonewall Jackson and his troops were marching through the town.

Health News

(By the County Nurse)

"Physical Impossibilities" Become Universal

When the telephone was first invented the possibility of talking through space by means of wire was greeted with a hoot of derision. "It is all humbug," for such a discovery is physically impossible," were the words of an eminent British physicist, Professor E. G. Tait, on hearing of the cable message from America. He lived to see the "physically impossible" in universal use.

Everything new in science has to begin and work a hilly way from the bottom up, generally against opposition. But presently it becomes an accepted fact because people appreciate the benefits derived from these scientific discoveries. So it is with nutrition. Years hence the people of that day will look back at us and marvel that it took so long to realize food values and the part they play in health. It is always through the work of some pioneer that the results are made known to the general public.

The American Red Cross has been one of the pioneers in several health fields. Today, for instance, everyone knows the necessity for public health nursing. Not so fourteen or so years ago. Convinced of the need, the Red Cross promoted scholarships so that nurses could be educated for public health nursing. It also worked to establish an understanding of the principles behind and it began a campaign to educate public opinion to their importance. Now, in most localities, this is self-evident.

Nutrition is of later growth. But it is as vital to the health of the people. So it was instituted by the American Red Cross as a service that the public might learn what experts had established, that the right foods in the right amounts at the right times in the right ways are essential to human welfare.

Under this service today are trained nutritionists, expert in teaching the relation of food to health, whose knowledge is at the disposal of the people. Through the chapters they go out into towns and rural areas and by giving food selection classes, by consultation with mothers in home visits and by giving public talks, educate the people to whom the need for knowledge in nutrition is proved by the difference brought about in the health of those who make personal application of food values.

At first it seems a "physical impossibility" that overmuch of one food and a lack of others can bring about diseases. But when the constituents of the body and these making up foods are analyzed—it is seen that there is a great similarity.

From the elements in food the human body takes what it needs and rebuilds them into its own tissue or uses them for essential processes. Thus is health maintained. Information like this, going more deeply into the specific details, is given by the nutrition service of the American Red Cross. When the best reasons are known and realized, it is not surprising that knowledge of nutrition will be as much a feature of homes in the United States as are the telephones that once aroused so much incredulity.

Authority has been granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission to the Michigan Bell Telephone Company to acquire the properties of the Consolidated Telephone Company, operating in Huron and Sanilac counties and headed by former Governor Albert E. Sleeper, of Bad Axe. The two companies jointly made application for the permission granted, and there was no opposition from any source. The Michigan public utilities commission approved the application in January of this year.

The village of Halfway, tracing of its name, is seeking a new designation and the village commissioners, favor "Calvin," "East Detroit," "Macomb" and "Ardmore" have been suggested as names also and will be submitted to the electors. Halfway received its present name from hucksters and others hauling produce to the Detroit markets, years ago, when a feed barn marked the midway point between Mt. Clemens and Detroit.

The fly bait restriction order on the Pere Marquette and Au Sable rivers has been lifted by the conservation commission. The commission also accepted the offer of the United Power & Light Co. of sites along the Pere Marquette river which the company had purchased for prospective power sites. The gift carries the stipulation that these lands are to be used for camp, park or game preserve purposes by the state.

Now that Walter Johnson is able to pitch again the National Capital will refuse any longer to worry about the situation in China.

A corn and apple show is to be an annual feature at a bank in Baltimore County, Maryland. Another banker has been able to get his county to "think corn," over 800 farmers planting improved corn. Many other bankers in the state are giving moral support and funds to this work.

National Emblem of Wales Is Red Dragon

While the harp is a Welsh national emblem, it is not recognized as the national emblem. The national emblem for Wales is the red dragon of Cadwallader, the last of the Welsh kings. This emblem had a place in the royal arms of Great Britain as a supporter in the reign of King Henry VII, but that king, toward the end of his reign, changed the supporters, which were the two white lions of March, to the Welsh dragon on the dexter side, with the white greyhound on the sinister. The latter emblem was representative of either the De Beaufort, his own ancestors, or the Nevilles, the ancestors of his wife, both of these families using the white greyhound as a family badge. In 1529 his son, Henry VIII, used for supporters to the royal arms the golden lion on the dexter, while the red dragon of Wales, which his father had used on the dexter, he relegated to the sinister side. These supporters continued in use until the accession (in 1603) of James VI of Scotland as James I of England. James kept the golden lion on the dexter, but changed the red dragon of Wales on the sinister to the unicorn, as in the royal arms of Scotland—an emblem of purity.

"Star-Spangled Banner"

Finished in Rowboat

The last lines of "The Star-Spangled Banner" were written in a rowboat by Francis Scott Key and were not penned in the hold of a prison ship as the old school books taught. Legendary history was that Key was a prisoner of war while watching the British bombardment of Baltimore and Fort Mifflin during the war of 1812. The correct story has been brought to light by the Woman's Home Companion, which shows that Key was permitted to go to the British flagship under a truce signal to obtain the release of a friend who had been taken prisoner, and arrived just as the enemy was ready to open fire. The young poet developed his verses during the anxiety of the night, but it was while returning to shore in a small boat the following morning that he wrote exultantly "Tis the Star-Spangled Banner. Oh! long may it wave o'er the land of the free and the home of the brave."

Then the Fun Began

A young university undergraduate had to present himself for an examination in which he was expected to read a short thesis on Greek tragedy. Knowing nothing of the subject, he asked the help of a friend, who was an expert. This gentleman wrote and gave him a masterly little treatise, of which the only fault lay in the penmanship.

At the examination all went well until the young man started his audience with the sentence, "We now come to the tragedies of Sophocles."

"The tragedies of whom?" gasped one of the examiners.

"You mean Sophocles," exclaimed another.

For some moments the young man gazed earnestly at the manuscript. Then he looked up with a reassured smile, and said, "No, it is distinctly Bophocles here."

Tips to Bosses

Don't take a man with light hair and blue eyes for an office job, unless you're going to give him a great deal of money and a lot of credit for nothing.

Men work harder if they think they are appreciated. If an executive's job is to learn when and how to praise men under him.

Most of our great students, philosophers and scientists have rather dark complexions. Most of our leaders, pioneers and executives have had a tanning toward light hair, eyes and skin.

To reach people you have to approach them as friends, not as policemen or teachers.

Gutter's Attrib

On the St. Andrews links an enthusiastic player with a most irascible temper was faced with a critical short putt. He addressed his ball, studied the line, attended himself carefully, putted—and missed.

Instinctively he glared round, but the entire party might have been so many statues—not a candle had moved, not a player had budged. His eyes roved the horizon in vain. No one outside the match was in sight. Then he gazed aloft, while breathless silence invested the scene. At last the explosion came: "D—n that lark!"

Bees Dumb, Says Scientist

Bees may be busy, but not bright, says J. B. Millet, a French scientist who has been investigating their efficiency in gathering honey. Experiments have proved to him that the buzzers are guided solely by odor and they often pass by scentless flowers with stores of honey and go to those that have a sweet perfume and little sugar. He says that they even try to extract honey from perfumed artificial flowers.

Eats Fruit Tree Pests

The orchard oriole, sometimes called basket bird, is found in eastern North America, over the central plains, south to the Gulf of Mexico. The tribe is of sufficient numbers, says Nature Magazine, to be useful to the agriculturist as a destroyer of injurious insects and their larvae, especially those affecting fruit trees.

Kind Packers Don't Want

A neighbor who sends the live stock market reports daily says he has never yet seen a quotation on road hog and wonders why. Our solution is they are too worthless to justify a quotation.

Among the personnel of the 202d Coast Artillery of Chicago—who are at Camp Grayling is their congenial Chaplain, Capt. J. J. Molloy. He has the happy faculty of getting acquainted quickly and in a very brief time has gained a large circle of friends and admirers in Grayling. In camp he is the idol of the troops over whom he holds a powerful influence for good. He directs their off-duty periods, promoting wholesome, clean and pleasurable athletics and enters largely into them himself. He is close in the hearts of "the boys."

Announcements were received by the relatives and friends of William James Percy Failing of his marriage to Deborah Louise Robinson, which took place Saturday, July 20th, at Toledo, Ohio. The groom is well known in Grayling, having graduated from our high school, after which he entered the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, where he is taking a course in civil engineering. His hosts of Grayling friends extend their congratulations. He is the son of Mrs. Ellen Failing of this city.

Mrs. Daisy Kraus and son Jack, accompanied by Mrs. John Zeder and son Jack, motored over to Sand Lake in Joseph county, Wednesday, a distance of about 75 miles, where is located the Bay City V. M. C. A. Camp Iroquois, and where the two boys are to spend the next two weeks. There are 48 boys enjoying the privileges of the camp and receiving moral and spiritual training to better their condition for the duties of life. That old Scriptural injunction to "Train a child in the way he should go so that when he is old he will not depart from it" is just as true now as in the days of King Solomon.

The white man's burden is now the lawn mower. Minneapolis Journal.

It is said that the average weight of the flappers' summer attire has been reduced to twelve ounces. Well, that is one way to reduce.

The Mississippi River is another striking illustration of the evils of over production. Milwaukee Journal.

Good music and a congenial crowd made the dancing party at the high school gymnasium last evening a very enjoyable affair. The party was a complimentary affair given for the people of Grayling by the 202d Coast Artillery of Chicago, who will tomorrow terminate their camp at Camp Grayling. The band of the organization rendered the poppy music and even when the last dance was announced, the crowd were reluctant to leave. The members of the organization proved fine hosts.
